Open Evenings Until Christmas.

Of Gift Watters Highly Practical

The holiday spirit pervades the store. And so the same spirit should be put into print when telling of its news. Let us see if we've wit enough to make reading at these times as interesting as

A great stock of the good and rich and sensible in Clothing and Furnishings for Man, Woman, and Child is assembled in this establishment. And while this aggregation of merchardise is all important, from the view-points of quantity and variety greatness-it also has an imperative claim to your attention by reason of virtues of marked superiority other than mere bigness.

It is a stock that blends the trinity of newness, beauty, and—when possible — exclusiveness. An important part of this Christmas store is a gathering of Trunks and Leather Goods that is very large and comprehensive.

This establishment is an inspiration—and so its reading shall be.

Every Department Under This Roof Is a Complete, First-class Store.

And every one of these different stores has a serious reason for existence-namely, to serve you better than you have ever been served in that particular line. Progressiveness. And that word means much-all in your favor.

This store will cease to be itself when there is a pause in its progress. We are bigger and better in every way than we were last year this time. And this bigness and betterness are a test of prog-

We challenge our own record always-there is no other comparison. The markets have been searched for all that is new and best-even Londen and Paris contributing.

The results are here in the freshest, brightest, and greatest assembly of wearables and other practical things of beauty and utility.

Assortments that are vast, comprehensive, and magnificent in each respective line.

It's inspiring to write of this store. And so no funereal, lugubrious phrases-but good, bright lines that appeal to the imagination.

Would that we could create an impressionist picture with just dashes of words-like the master artist with dabs of the brush. Let's try:

FOR THE MEN-Suits, Overcoats, Separate Trousers, Smoking Jackets, Bath Robes, Lounging Gowns, Fancy Vests, Hats, Shoes, Slippers, Umbrellas, Canes and Furnishing Goods of every description, Trunks, Leather Goods, etc.

FOR THE BOYS-There are Suits, Overcoats, Separate Trousers, Bath Robes, Lounging Gowns, Fancy Vests, Hats, Shoes, Slippers, Leggins, Umbrellas, Canes, and everything in the Furnishings line.

FOR WOMEN AND MISSES - There are Furs of every description, Fancy Costumes, Tailored Gowns, Wraps, Jackets, Dressing Robes and Sacques, Tea Gowns, Silk Petticoats, Silk and Flannel Waists, Muslin Underwear, Hosiery, Neckwear, Handkerchiefs, Trunks, Leather

There is a vast amount of warming up of the left-overs of last year. Catch words and lowered prices will be applied-but they don't make the old trash savory.

A lowered price does not change the nature of an article or enhance its gift-fitness.

Freshness and newness greet you here at every turn-and the real cheapness will surprise you-that is, if you have any faculty of surprise for cheapness after your knowledge of the economic triumphs of our Modern Methods in Merchandising. Verily this is the store for both masses and classes at holiday times and at all

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—Thousands of people who hoped to get a gold-filled watch for 25 cents and the sale of five tickets yesterday awoke to the fact that they had been victimized, and for hours they made things lively in the vicinity of the office of J. C. Mason & Co., 1113 Arch Street, who operated the scheme. The company, it is said, consisted of but one man, James McMann, who by a clever application of the endless chain system collected, in less than a month, over $15,-000. He had fixed yesterday for the sec ond distribution of watches, but he failed to turn up, and so far nothing has been heard of him or the money.

When the confiding investors began to arrive at the office to get their watches and found that McMann had disappeared. they almost mobbed the office employes. Common soda is air right in its place and indispens whe in the kitchen and for cooking and washing purposes, but soda was never intended for medicine, and people who use it as such will some day regret it.

The common use of soda to relieve heartburn and sour stomach is a habit which thousands of people practice simost daily, and one which is fraught with danger. Soda gives only temporary relief, and in the end the stomach trouble gets worse and worse.

The soda acts as a mechanical irritant to the walls of the stomach and bowels, and cases are on record where it accumulates in the intestines, causing death by inflam-mation or peritorities lation or peritonitis.

Protest Against the Use of the Scien. tific Discovery by Fakirs and Char. latans-Mysterious Character of the Burns Produced-Theories Advanced by Several Close Students.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.-At a convention of the Roentgen Ray Society, that is now in session at the Grand Central Palace. a number of revelations of the possibilities and dangers of the principle, start hig to the laity, have been made.

Dr. J. Mont Bleyer last evening, for ins ance, outlined a process of treating tuberculosis by means of the x-rays, and while he did not claim for it that it was a perfect cure for consumption, he excited the intense interest of the other physiexposure to the rays was brought out in a number of papers, notably in that of Dr. attempted to analyze the cause of the burns resulting from the use of the x-ray. theories to account for these burns, but their effect is sufficiently serious to cause the doctors to issue a warning against permitting the application of the process by charlatans or tyros.

"These burns," said Dr. Florentine,
"have caused a widespread prejudice among the laity which time alone can overcome. These so-called burns may be classified in three ways: As x-ray burns, gangrene, and electric burns.
"The nathological process is variable.

"The pathological process is variable and sometimes advances to aggravated ulceration. In others the effect is upon the hair, which these burns cause to fall out. angers, however, have their protective effects. The remedy for them is carefulness, in which case there is no cause for alarm among the laity.

"The course for the medical profession to take in order to overcome this uneasiness is to carry on a relentless war against fakirs and charlatans, who are the greatest bane to the grandest discovery of the nineteenth century."

Dr. T. B. Honraide, of Boston, himself a sufferer from the offerir of the nowerful

Dr. Cleaves, a woman physician, showed from her practice that, though the x-rays applied to healthy skin sometimes caused an ulcer, the same rays applied to certain ulcers cured them. Her theory was that the cure was as much due to counterpritation as to the therapeutic properties. irritation as to the therapeutic propertie

An index to the wide value of the Roentgen principle was furnished by the paper of Weston A. Price, a dentict of Cleveland, who said that the possibilities of the rays in dental surgery were illimitable. Serious complications of the teeth, otherwise un-determinable, were made exceedingly sim-

The society is again in session today.

The president of the body is Dr. Hubert Roberts, of St. Louis, editor of the "American X-Ray Journal."

In his opening address yesterday he said that it was now possible to give a good picture of the entire body after an exposure of ten seconds, and in addition to locating dense objects and fractures any-where, it was also feasible to determine certain pathological charges before they could be detected by any other means.
